

THIN BLOOD AND RHEUMATISM

Whatever Builds up the Blood During an Attack Will Cure the Disease.

This Ohio Woman Tired the Tonic Treatment After Being Crippled by Rheumatism and Was Cured.

There is a great deal of talk about the cause of rheumatism but one fact now stands out prominently—the rapid thinning of the blood from the beginning of the attack. This may be one of the causes of the disease or one of its effects but it is known that anything which will build up the blood during an attack of rheumatism will cure the trouble. Such a remedy either attacks the cause of the rheumatism or counteracts its harmful effects and enables the system to throw it off. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are their curative effect to this action.

Therapeutic for rheumatism is well illustrated in the case of Mrs. E. C. Alphonso, whose address is R. F. D. No. 1, Vanata, Ohio. She says: "I suffered for nine months from rheumatism in my right hand and arm and think it was partly caused by an injury. My hand was so crippled that I could not use it at all. I had a dull heavy pain in my right arm all the time and was in great misery. When I got up in the morning my arm would be numb and the pain would be so great that I would have to cry. There were sharp, shooting pains through my arm. I became very nervous and could scarcely dress myself."

"I did not see that the doctor's treatment was helping me and quit taking that. Through a friend I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I noticed in a few days that I was being benefited. I took the pills until I recovered the use of my hand and the rheumatism has never bothered me since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured anemia, chlorosis, malaria, nervousness, after-effects of the grip and fever, and neuritis, owing to their blood-building property. Send today for our free booklet, "Diseases of the Blood." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

NO BAIL ORDER IN SHAW CASE

Judge Stevens in the Superior Criminal Court today directed Clerk John Manning to issue a "no bail" order in the Shaw case. This is the first order of the kind since the Grand Jury met on Monday. This action today marks the official ending of any attempt to hold financially responsible the trustees of the state of Quincy A. Shaw. Robert H. Hervey, Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., and Francis Welch.

Judge Stevens has not yet made public his opinion memorandum which he handed him when they appeared. No individuals had been found in the Shaw case. This memorandum, which is known to be the jury's recommendation for legislation to stop tax-shifting in Massachusetts, found on the record that the Shaw case, will be sent to the Legislature.

First Inventory $5,400,000. The inventory of the Shaw estate filed in the Probate Court shows a list of property worth $5,400,000. CALHOUN, Ky., April 21.—The HU opera house at Livermore, eight miles from here, never witnessed such a melodrama as was staged at 8.30 o'clock last night when Will Potter, a negro, was hanged before the footlights. The melodrama, with bursts from the revolvers of an audience of half a hundred avengers, about 200 shots fired nearly half entered his body and the remainder tore to shreds the woodland scenery arranged for the occasion. The drama, "The Drama," was produced by the "Drama," and was produced by Frank Mitchell, a white man.

WOMAN'S DEED TRAIT IS TOLD

CASH PRIZES IN WOMAN CONTEST

"What is the most excellent trait in woman?"
Write your answer to Eleanor Ames, the AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.
The best letter wins a cash prize of $10, the next best $5, and there are $1 prizes for the five next best letters.

By ELEANOR AMES.
I am delighted with the contest. Hundreds and hundreds of letters were told on my desk this morning. And they were all splendid. I had no idea there were so many beautiful traits in woman when I started this contest for the best answer to the question.

"What is the most excellent quality in woman?"

Yesterday I printed many of the letters that were received. Those that came in today were equally as good. And there were no many different answers.
Many people think that tact is the most excellent trait in woman. Others have said intelligence, a wide humor, or, indeed, goodness, loyalty, modesty, fertility, and common sense. Have all been given. And, indeed, many of the qualities named are the most excellent, have been given, too.

Send in Your Paper.

If you haven't sent me your opinion, do so now. A letter here or there this week will win for you the first prize. For the best letter, the prize is Ten Dollars in cash.
The second best letter, the prize is Five Dollars in cash.
The third best letter, the prize is One Dollar in cash.

While waiting for the results of the contest, address letters to ELEANOR AMES, the AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer Street, Boston, Mass.

Here are a few of the letters I received today:

In answer to your query as to the most worthy quality in woman, I suggest Patience. My reason for this choice are as follows: Tact, the mother of all virtues, comes next. It is the quality that makes us able to get on with our fellow men and is not over when all the world is against us.

In her calm, quiet, unobtrusive, in her patience, she waits for the day when she can win her triumph. She waits for the day when she can win her triumph. She waits for the day when she can win her triumph.

After thinking, he replies, she waits for the day when she can win her triumph. She waits for the day when she can win her triumph. She waits for the day when she can win her triumph.

One for Affection.

I should say without any hesitation that affection was woman's best quality. It is everything but tact which keeps the poor widow, with a family, alive and smiling, from early morning till late at night to provide for her little ones for whom she has to do everything.

And which makes her so kind and so good to her family? It is affection. And which makes her so kind and so good to her family? It is affection. And which makes her so kind and so good to her family? It is affection.

MRS. CURRAN, WHO IS SOON TO WED WALWORTH PIERCE

EXPECT PIERCE AND BRIDE HERE

Mrs. Marie Therese Curran, divorced wife of William Curran, of New York, was the subject of much discussion here today because of the announcement that she will probably make her home here in the office of Walworth Pierce, secretary of the S. S. Pierce Company. She is a relative of the late George Curran, of New York.

Walworth Pierce is now in New York with his father, Wallace H. Pierce. The young wife who was graduated from the University of Wisconsin, at Madison, Wis., was obtained from Justice James at Liverpool, Long Island, only three weeks before she made application for the license to wed Mr. Pierce. She was very pretty, and had several friends in the city.

Her husband, after the manner of all husbands, is careless. He comes home late at night, and he is not on his feet. He takes them out, and she has to look after them. She has often done this, and will never come back.

After thinking, he replies, she waits for the day when she can win her triumph. She waits for the day when she can win her triumph. She waits for the day when she can win her triumph.

Administrator's Sale of Stock

S. Nathanson & Co., 119 Summer St., Boston

For eighteen years S. Nathanson & Co. have ranked among the foremost manufacturers of good clothing for men, and as makers of the famous "Nat Hanson Clothes" have achieved a reputation that is gilt-edged. The death of Mr. Nathanson came at a time when their stock was in the pink of condition for Spring and Summer trade—it necessarily forced an immediate sale in order to settle his estate.

Our bid was very low, indeed, but for cash and the ability to take the whole stock carried the day, and by permission and consent of the administrator of the estate, we now offer their entire stock of men's suits, topcoats and raincoats at prices that have never been equalled on garments of such remarkably high qualities.

Here Are Suits
S. Nathanson & Co. Made to Retail at $15

We've always made it our business to put out the greatest value it's possible to sell for $10—but this sale, with its record-breaking bargains, enables us to go ourselves several points better and give you the biggest $15 worth a ten dollar bill was ever known to buy.

There's ample selections, surely—not only as to styles, but as to fabrics and the new colorings—and there are sizes for young men, too, as well as men. The trimmings are of the best and the linings are in extra good qualities of serge and Venetian. Dip into the stock where you will and judge this sale by what you find—for there are

SUCCESS

From one stand in 1868 to the phenomenal growth of over one store today is the remarkable record of six brothers—known as the "Six Little Tailors."

TOO PARTICULAR

We have heard that above expression used very often by our customers to our fitters because there was something about the sleeves of our coats that did not quite suit them, and, of course, they would not let the garment go out. Yes, we are very particular. Our customers are very important here, although the majority of tailors do not think so. By the number of people one sees filled with sleeves in their coats, they look as if they were made for somebody else. We may be very particular, but we are too particular, as our output of last year's business shows.

This is another reason for our wonderful success.

The Scotch Quarry Boy Who Read a Sermon in Stones

High Miller Learned from the Rocks About Him the Wonderful Story of Nature

By THOMAS TAPPER
THE THINKER

I remember the man who came to me in a stone quarry, and he was the part of a man who was everything around him. But still, he will change everything within him.

There was a little Scotch boy, he was of a poor and stammering family. No one of his relatives was famous, none were learned. They were just poor, but decent people.

When the little boy was old enough, he went to work as apprentice to a stonemason. He was to work long before he was to be a stonemason.

No writing of mine is so true as the story in the world. It is the story of a man who wrote his life, and called it his story. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason.

He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason.

He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason.

He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason.

He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason.

He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason. He was a stonemason, and he was a stonemason.

Valuable Pointers for the Training School for Brides

After All, Cooking and Housekeeping Do Not Constitute the Whole Secret of Success

By DOROTHY DIX

I have been thinking of the many training schools for brides, and how they are to be trained. It is not enough to be a good cook and a good housekeeper. It is not enough to be a good cook and a good housekeeper.

It is not enough to be a good cook and a good housekeeper. It is not enough to be a good cook and a good housekeeper. It is not enough to be a good cook and a good housekeeper. It is not enough to be a good cook and a good housekeeper.

Comic Sheet Is Mother's Friend

By FRANK L. GARSIDE.

WHEN Mother writes a letter the only line in it that would do for a copy book is the first line. By the time she has written that the children have found out what she is doing and sworn against her, she has written the rest of the letter. And she has written the rest of the letter. And she has written the rest of the letter.

It means that once a week, only once a week, father has to read the children's letters. And he has to read the children's letters. And he has to read the children's letters.

"What's that one will say? Read it again," is the command of mother. "Read it again," is the command of mother. "Read it again," is the command of mother.

"No, read this. I spoke first," with questions, questions and questions, with the time the last child is tired, and has dropped off to never sleep, father is exhausted man.

"I claim this explanation to good for him. It gives him a faint idea of what it is like to be a mother. It gives him a faint idea of what it is like to be a mother.

HE had not looked through her letters to see if there were any from her lover. The letters were lying on that bed—red and white—black and white, like the cards in the game of a very long time ago. They could not get back into that room—over for her lack into that room—over for her lack into that room.

And perhaps there was no letter. Perhaps there was a very faint envelope—like a little candle in the face of the fire of time that had burned her. But, alas, it was a different kind of letter. It was a different kind of letter.

He found it in the half of the second book. So he sat down and looked at it. And he found it in the half of the second book. So he sat down and looked at it.

"I shall go mad presently," she told her. "I shall go mad presently," she told her. "I shall go mad presently," she told her.

But her husband had died of pneumonia. No one could believe that unless they saw the body. The body was lying in the coffin. The body was lying in the coffin.

It was not her lover's letter. It was not her lover's letter. It was not her lover's letter.

Susanna Has Her Say

By KENNETH HARRIS

"Thank you, dear child," I said gratefully. "Thanking me from top to bottom." Susanna smiled a smile, beautifully aware of it in her eyes and broadened her face.

"That's the hardest thing for me to get into," she said. "I don't like to be thanked. I don't like to be thanked. I don't like to be thanked."
